PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

A tragedy occurred January 23rd when a 17 year old young man was killed by gunfire in the parking lot of the former Ohio National Guard Armory at 4100 Reading Road leased by H.O.P.E 4 CHANGE (H4C). The site is immediately adjacent to District #4 Police Headquarters and so very close to where our families live in North Avondale. Officials of H4C came twice to NANA meetings in late 2010 to introduce themselves to our community and outline the new organization's activities and goals. They stressed the vision "to help people who needed a second chance in life". H4C literature purports "...the facility collaborates with businesses, community organizations, school districts and the juvenile court system to provide in-depth perspective for entrepreneurs....." and, "... provides a safe multi-cultural environment that serves to educate". In plain English, we at the NANA meetings were told that H4C would key on providing vocational training to enhance job skills and would provide a social meeting place where sports and social activities for youth could flourish in the right setting. It was indicated that an atmosphere would be built for a place where young people would want to come and enjoy "character building" activities. Through an attractive sports complex, religious influence and promotion of social responsibility, H4C representatives told us a true "difference" could be made in young people's lives. H.O.P.E. 4 CHANGE is now closed!! The loved ones of the young man who lost his life wonder, "what went wrong"....and so do I.

On January 11th when Cincinnati television news commentators reported a complex and bizarre account of a possible home invasion, police action and gunfire on Clinton Springs Avenue and Spring House Lane, I was saddened by the affect it had on our the residents in that area and North Avondale as a whole. Occurrences like this one, a robbery at knife point, muggings, car jackings, theft and an array of other criminal activities seen in NA make it mandatory that we become a part of the solution to combat CRIME! Please come to our NANA General Meetings and learn about planned efforts for crime prevention that are now taking place. People like Michelle Baxter, Maura Wolf and Charlene Morse are NANA community leaders that work hard and diligently, almost daily, on this problem. NA needs you to become a part of helping to turn around Cincinnati and NA's primary concern --CRIME. We are now working or participating with City officials, Xavier University, Cincinnati Police and governmental leaders to jointly abate continued incidents of crime. Needed is an "army" of citizens who will volunteer their service in this all out effort.

The NANA Board continues efforts to make NA's business district grow, improve appearance and become more attractive to investors. New meetings with development companies are being arranged, monies from grants and government funds are being investigated and the keen minds of some professionals at Xavier University are working with NANA on producing an actual action project that could be significant in making our community better. Our special thanks to Xavier's Elizabeth Blume, Director, Community Building Institute who recently, on several occasions, met with NANA Board members. Just last week she walked through the business district with us to formulate ideas and possibilities for existing structures and vacant land use. This lady is for real! She is a smart, practical individual with experience who provides analysis that can lead to reality and not just dreams! But, another vital tool needed is volunteers to work on committees that generate new ideas and actually work on specific areas of the plans for improvement. Let us know if you want to work with a handful of great people to successfully develop NA's business district. Again, please come to the NANA General Meetings and become a part of the NANA TEAM.

As a final note, I remind you that we need names provided for candidates to be considered for filling slots on the NANA Executive Board. At the Annual NANA Meeting in May, new Officers will be elected to the Board. We must start now on this talent search. We need you to suggest neighbors who can provide leadership or for you to express your personal interest to serve. Simply contact any on the present Board members and we will take it from there.

Enjoy the wonderful weather predicted for the next few months, and before long, the sun will shine again in beautiful North Avondale.

IN MEMORIAM

The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra announced that longtime CSO violist Robert Howes (S. Fred Shuttlesworth) died of cancer on Tuesday January 18, 2011. He was 59. At the time of his death, he was the longest-serving member of the viola section. Robert was an active member of NANA.

Robert was appointed to the Cincinnati Symphony in 1973 by Thomas Schippers, and served for 38 years, performing on numerous programs, recordings and national and international tours.

He was a passionate advocate for Music Hall, and was a writer and historian who unearthed original architectural drawings of Music Hall that have historical relevancy to the current renovation plans. Mr. Howes was the vice president of the Society for the Preservation of Music Hall, and once wrote a regular column, "Classical Beat," for "The Downtowner." At the time of his death, he was at work on an extensive study of concert halls in America.

Many people may not know that Robert was also a onetime model and actor, who appeared in local TV commercials for LaRosa's, Watson's, Shillito's and Skyline Chili.

Memorial gifts may be made to the CSO, or SPMH 1241 Elm Street, Cincinnati, OH 45202.

Bianne Bobbitt retired manager at the Cincinnati Library St. Bernard Branch passed away at home on Thursday, February 3, 2011. She was Branch Manager for 16 years and retired March 31 2008. She was a wonderful manager, a pleasure for the patrons and a great human being. She will be missed.

FROM YOUR NEIGHBORS

Three compositions of Bonia Shur (Red Bud) were performed on Sat. Feb. 27 by Cincinnati Boychoir, for the convention of the OMEA (Ohio Music Education Association) at Duke convention Center. He received a standing ovation from all present, honoring the multicultural Amen-Oseh Shalom, a song interweaving the famous gospel song Amen, with the Hebrew words Oseh Shalom (Maker of Peace). Also sung were "Come Join Me in My Dance" and "Digi, Digi", two rhythmically buoyant compositions. These works will be performed by the Boychoir at Kennedy Center in Washington DC later this year, as well as at the Underground Railroad Freedom Center by a choir of beautiful boys whose voices are pure and uplifting. On January 16, his birthday, a citywide tribute to the Life and Work of Bonia Shur was presented at Hebrew Union College (in Clifton) to a standing room only audience. Colleagues came from all over the USA to honor him. Historical photos and narration of his amazing life journey were followed by a presentation of an exquisite scroll honoring him by the Dean of the College, and his rendition of Kol Nidre for Viola solo, played by Yael Senamaud, again brought the audience to their feet. It took a long while for them to sit down.

The family tradition continues with his Grammy Winner son Itaal recent release of his album BEYOND TOMORROW. Rio de Janeiro and back to NYC, the journey creating this album has been revealing, mysterious, thrilling, stressful, suspenseful, surprising and last but not least joyful. You Can Purchase Beyond Tomorrow at either iTUNES or AMAZON or Wherever Digital Music is Sold.

Environment & Archaeology, a cultural resource management firm in Florence, Kentucky, has worked with the Cincinnati Preservation Association to prepare a nomination of the Rose Hill-Beechwood Avenue Historic District to the National Register of Historic Places. This is an honorary recognition by the federal government of the property's importance in history where the property receives a letter certification that the property is listed, and the owner can purchase a plaque to put on the house. This project was submitted to the SHPO for review and they responded with some changes they would like added to the nomination. At this point, re-submittal of these changes to the SHPO is on hold until payment for the work is received. This has never been a NANA project but if the affected residents would like NANA to get involved and make contact in support of the project, please let us know by email or phone.

Ohio Citizen Action and P.O.W.E.R. say it's possible to handle our garbage without expansion There is a better way...

Neighbors of the Rumpke Sanitary Landfill, Property Owners Want Equal Rights (P.O.W.E.R.), and statewide environmental group Ohio Citizen Action released a report on the sixth largest landfill in the United States, located in Colerain Township and known to many as Mt. Rumpke. The two groups oppose a proposed 350-acre expansion of the landfill and say we can handle our region's trash without expanding.

The landfill and its neighbors have fought over expansion proposals for decades, but now the neighbors and local environmentalists say things are different. "In the past, Hamilton County and other communities that use the landfill have seen no other option but to expand. Now we know it's possible to divert 50%, 75% or more of our waste stream from the landfills by setting goals and deadlines and committing to programs and policies that will get us there. Cities around the nation are already leading the way" said Ohio Citizen Action director Melissa English. (speaking at 2/8 meeting)

The report titled The Future is Now: A Citizens' Audit of the Rumpke Sanitary Landfill <http://ohiocitizen.org/?p=3830> lays out the two groups' argument that the landfill is a potential risk to public health and reduces quality of life in Colerain Township and Hamilton County. It documents decades of complaints and accidents, including the underground fire that has been burning for over a year. "People don't know these things; they don't think about how a leak from the landfill might affect the Bolton waterworks or how much industrial waste Rumpke takes in from local companies. No one wants to live near a landfill, but this one keeps moving closer to us. It's got to stop." said POWER representative Nancy Lindemood.

The Citizens' Audit also includes a timeline of the landfill, including the various lawsuits Rumpke has filed against Colerain Township over denial of zoning requests related to the proposed expansion.

The report also highlights an apparent conflict of interest between the solid waste management district and the landfill – all county recycling programs are 100% funded from landfill tipping fees. The groups recommend that the Hamilton County Solid Waste Management District pursue federal grants and other available funding sources, in order to resolve what they say is a conflict between mission and budget.

Without expansion, the landfill has approximately 15 years of capacity left. In that time, the two groups say, waste reduction and recycling programs like other cities have implemented can eliminate the need for expansion altogether. "These programs have the potential to create new recycling based jobs, reduce greenhouse gas emissions and save our villages, cities and townships money" says Ohio Citizen Action's English. "We aren't saying that Rumpke should close the landfill tomorrow, but the company is rooted in the status quo mentality of creating more landfills. They have the ability to be leaders and be part of the solution. In fact, they have invested a lot in recycling and admit it's their future. We just want them to work with the citizens of Colerain Township – not against them- to bring that future to pass more quickly."

Property Owners Want Equal Rights and Ohio Citizen Action launched a good neighbor campaign with Rumpke in April 2010. The campaign's goals are to stop the landfill in Colerain Township from nearly doubling in size, promote waste reduction and recycling programs to reduce the region's dependence on landfills and support the rights of communities to determine waste management strategies.

Property Owners Want Equal Rights (P.O.W.E.R.) works to improve the quality of life and property values in Colerain Township, Ohio through public involvement, awareness and empowerment. P.O.W.E.R. became actively involved in the landfill expansion issue in 1999 when Rumpke proposed the 95 acre "southern expansion" and has worked diligently to research issues surrounding both that proposal and the current "eastern expansion" proposal. P.O.W.E.R. educates Colerain Township residents on the issue via their website and email listserv and organizes them to speak out against expansion. The group's core leadership testifies at public meetings and hearings and provides interviews to the press about Rumpke's daily operations and plans. P.O.W.E.R. also lobbied for a 24-hour landfill odor complaint hotline to the Hamilton County Department of Health. More at www.powercincinnati.com

Adopt A Class - Businesses & Groups

Often people busy with work and other connections, would like to help their neighbors living in poverty but don't think they have time. Adopt A Class is designed for them. It targets Schools with the highest concentration of poverty. Such a school is North Avondale's neighborhood school, South Avondale.

As children living in our neighborhood experience community interest during their formative years, progress made there will eventually impact every street in North Avondale. It will help the children make better decisions as they grow older.

Adopters report the experience to be very rewarding and a high percentage remain with the program for a number of years. Its structure fits in well with the demands of a business. The Adopters work through the teacher and are supported by the structure that includes coordinators and the principal. If you would like to know more or have a presentation for your group, contact Bill Burwinkle at bill.b@aacfoundation.com.

Kennedy Heights Art Center opened its art show, The World As We See It, to a packed gallery. Family and students of The New School Montessori (TNSM) were on hand to premiere their large-scale interpretation of our school's beloved Mitchell Mansion.

The piece was constructed from recycled cardboard complete with stonework, papier-mâché gargoyles and cardboard-student figures waving from the front porch. Students in grades 1 through 6 took part in constructing the piece and were inspired by their study of artist Red Grooms, famous for his New York City installation art.

TNSM art teacher Robin Hartmann who is also a founding member of the art center, encouraged students to attend the January 22 event to experience a real gallery opening. The World As We See It runs through March 5 and features the artwork of students attending classes at the Kennedy Heights Art Center in addition to works from eight local schools.
