

ProjectArt Classes at the Avondale Library

Description

default watermark

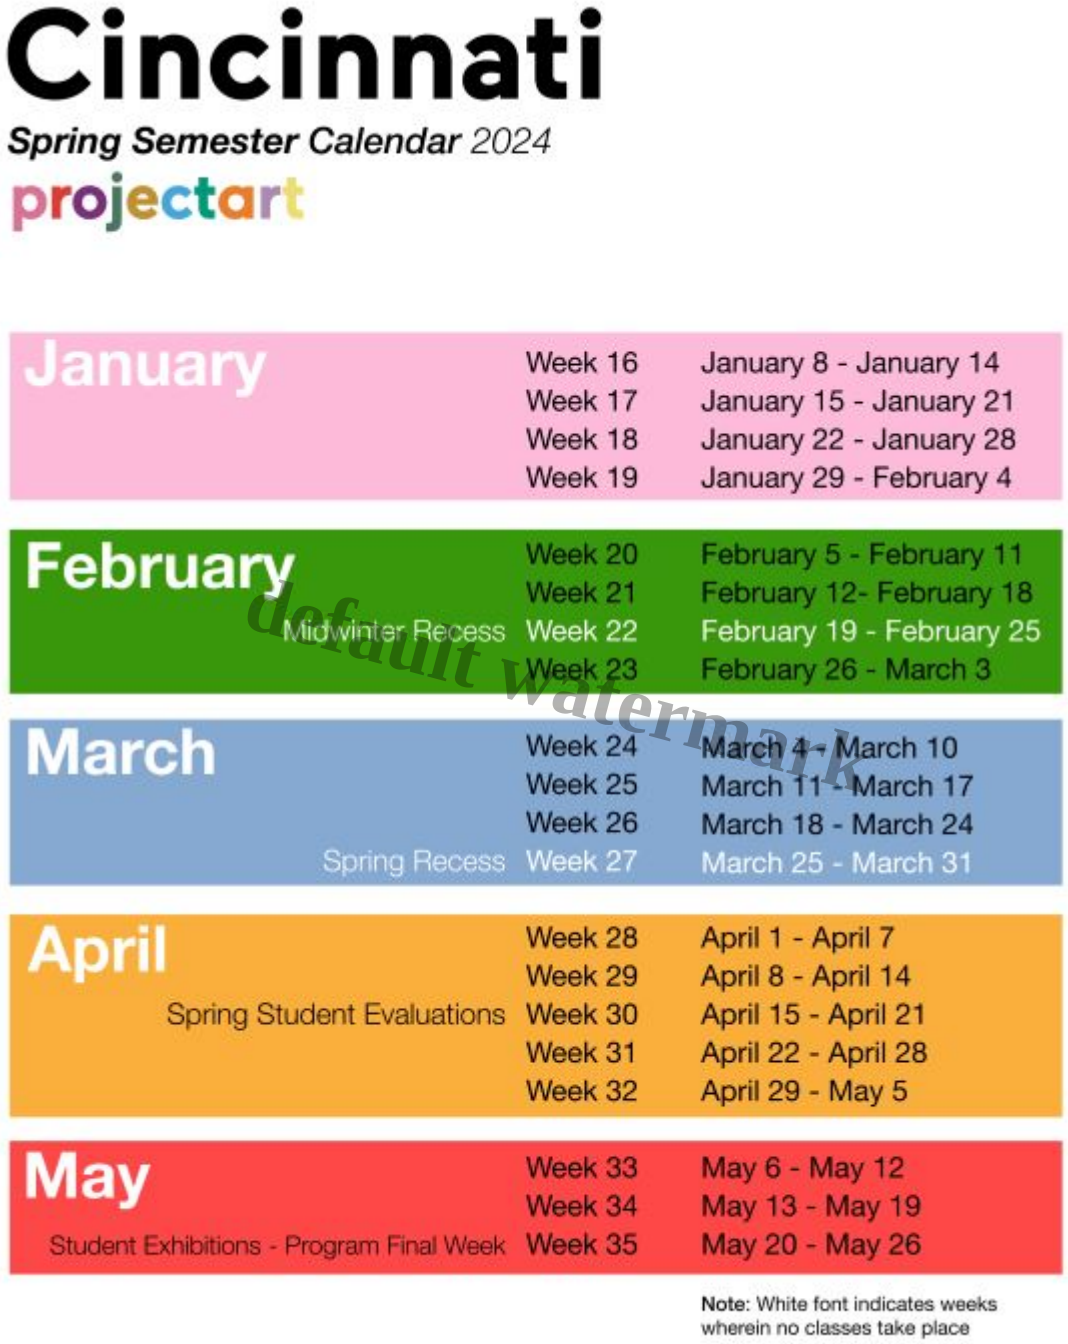

ProjectArtâ??s free classes continue through May at the Avondale Branch Library. Local, professional artists teach classes aligned with the National Arts Education Association standards and are informed by the teaching artistâ??s personal artistic practice. ProjectArt courses are fun and imaginative, cultivate a love of learning and take place on Wednesdays and Thursdays, from 4:00 pm to 5:00 pm.

ProjectArt classes, designed for youth 8-18 are led by Dutana Dago. She is a Cincinnati-based and Minneapolis-raised artist. Dagoâ??s work is not only a form of resistance but also of acceptance. Her work is culturally and socially connected to Black identity. She aims to celebrate while simultaneously confronting the conversations surrounding Black erasure, identity, race and gender. As part of this, Dago advocates for Black creativity to be recognized in the contemporary world, shifting the gaze of what and who an artist can be.

Materials for ProjectArt are provided for all students, and enrollment is ongoing throughout the year. Registration is required in advance, and space is limited.

To participate, all youth MUST register at ProjectArt Cincinnati â?? AfterSchool HQ.

Sign up today to attend free weekly classes at ProjectArt.

default watermark

In honor of Earth Day, which falls on April 22, The Avondale Branch is also hosting Earth Day Watch: Ferngully. Celebrate Earth and Arbor Day with a viewing of the animated classic, Ferngully: The Last Rainforest. Watch, snack, craft, and discuss with library staff and friends! The event takes place Friday, April 26, from 4:00 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Click here for more information.

Click here to see other upcoming events and activities at the Avondale, St. Bernard and Norwood Branches.

Date Created
April 9, 2024

Author
eccanova

default watermark