PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

With the promise of spring in the air, we were excited to learn of our second Keep Cincinnati Beautiful (KCB) Safe and Clean grant award of $3,000! These funds are only possible because several of you make generous commitments to participate in community projects through volunteering, making in-kind donations and monetary contributions (for the required match.) Planned projects for this grant include improvements to our vacant lot on Reading Road and installing lighting around our New ArtWorks Mural. Please sign up for one of the several volunteer opportunities (listed in the right column) to spruce up and beautify our common areas. Your efforts are greatly appreciated by our entire community, as well as those of our wonderful partners at KCB!

We encourage North Avondale residents to attend this month's General Meeting during which time Linda Thomas, President of Avondale 29, will provide an update on the opposition of the proposed housing project know as Commons at Alaska (CAA). CAA is slated to be a 90-unit facility, primarily for chronically homeless adults, many of whom have severe mental issues and/or alcohol or substance abuse history, and some with criminal backgrounds (still under parole). NANA voted to officially oppose the location of CAA (highlighted in the February NANA News). It violates both City and Federal laws, and for good reasons, it is not a permitted use on the proposed site given its multi-family residential zoning. Freedom of Information documents reveal the facts in the developer's application used to receive the Federal funding (low-income housing tax credits). Mark your calendars for March 25th at 6 PM when the Cincinnati Metropolitan Housing Authority (CMHA) may be voting on whether or not to approve project-based funding. Email StopCAA@gmail.com soon if you can help. This is critical!

At this month's meeting, we will also be learning about the exciting prospects of using vertical gardens for urban beautification and sustainability from Urban Blooms, a newly incorporated business right here in North Avondale. Hope to see you there!

Wishing you and yours a happy spring,

Maura Wolf

Will a Montessori Education Prepare My Child for the "Real World"?

This is a common question Jeff Groh, the Assistant Director at The New School Montessori hears as he meets with prospective parents. Do they mean the "real world" of professional pressures, deadlines, and aggressive competition? Or do they mean the "real world" of emotional intelligence, engaged citizenry, compassion, joy, and relationship to one's environment? Fortunately, no matter which version of the "real world" they are referring to, his answer is the same, a resounding "Yes!"

Multi-age classrooms and emphasis on time management prepare in "real world" ways.

With Montessori education, children are grouped in multi-aged classrooms, where students are engaged in hands-on, self-paced, collaborative work; this allows older students to be leaders and mentors. In addition, Montessori teachers do not stand in front of a class giving lectures while asking students to work on the same thing, at the same time, in the same way. Rather, they walk throughout the classroom, working one-on-one with students or in small groups. At the core of the Montessori philosophy is the belief that all students have a natural desire to learn, explore, and joyfully work toward independence through knowledge and discipline.

In a "real world" job, one is expected to be able to work with people at different ages and levels of experience, work well independently and in a group, set up work, concentrate on it, keep it organized, complete it, and put it away. Workers need to try things to see if they work and then learn from their mistakes. They need to be able to problem solve and to communicate effectively.

The top five types of knowledge and skills employers are looking for in the 21st Century were listed by a Gallup poll in this order and are all skills deeply embedded in the Montessori method: Critical thinking and problem solving, ▪information technology application ▪teamwork and collaboration ▪creativity and innovation ▪and diversity training.

Montessori education has been proven to prepare children for the "real world."

In 2004 Barbara Walters interviewed Google founders Larry Page and Sergey Brin, and asked them if having college professors as parents was the major factor behind their success. Page stated that more influential than having professorial parents was the fact that, " We both went to Montessori school, and I think it was part of the training... being self-motivated, questioning what's going on in the world, doing things a bit differently."

In the journal Science, Angeline Lillard published a study comparing the educational achievement performance of low-income Milwaukee children who attended Montessori preschools versus children attending a variety of other traditional preschools determined by lottery. Lehrer found that by the end of kindergarten, "Montessori students proved to be significantly better prepared for elementary school in reading and math skills than the non-Montessori children. They also tested better on "executive function," the ability to adapt to changing and more complex problems, an indicator of future school and life success."

So yes, a Montessori education will prepare your child for the "real world" of 21st Century employment. But here's the added bonus; a Montessori education will also prepare your children for the "real world" of life, learning skills like how to: resolve conflicts peacefully ■build a relationship between themselves and their environment ■remain curious and a life-long learner ■treat others with kindness and respect ■be more interested in the joy of discovery than the value of a grade or paycheck ■reflect and know how to celebrate their individuality while at the same time knowing how to sacrifice their own desires for the benefit of the whole.

These values have deep roots in Montessori education, and it just so happens they are also what prepare us for how to live fully in the “real world” of life.

So, will a Montessori education prepare your child for the “real world?” Yes it will.

South Avondale school has about 60 Kindergarten students of which only 1/6 have attended preschool. In 10 years three and four year olds will be the age of the children in the neighborhood who now create problems for their families, their neighbors and the police.

Universal Preschool will make it possible for all 3 and 4 year olds to attend preschool. Children who do not attend preschool start Kindergarten two years behind their peers who have. This gap continues on through their school years and impacts graduation, GED, college, career, dropping out and prison. If we support Universal Preschool, we support a having a safer neighborhood in a few years.

☞Zion temple Christian Academy (Reading Road) has been fundraising for a new playground for the past 2 years. NANA attended the City Zone change hearing after they presented the plan at a NANA Meeting. HUD also called in to the express their support of the playground. I am pleased to say we have ordered Phase 1 of the playground. This is the largest piece of the play plan, it will be colorful and do its part to beautify N. Avondale. The equipment should arrive sometime in April with the installation occurring late April early May. The academy will continue to fundraise for the 2nd and last phase. Thank you for your help and support.

NANA Nominating Committee chaired by Maura Wolf and comprised of: Mike Caporale (Avondale Ave.), Reginald Crutcher (Lenox Pl), Hanne Loken Larsen (Rose Hill) and Marvin Masterson (Red Bud Pl) is selecting the 2014/2015 slate of officers for the North Avondale Neighborhood Association. If you are interested in serving or have suggestions, please contact Maura at Nanacincinnati@gmail.com.

North Avondale Business Association (NABA)

NABA held its elections in January and elected its officers in February. The Trustees are: Patricia Baxter, Yvette Brooks, John Courtney, Mike Daly, Willie Lewis, Roger Stevenson, Bryn Walden, J. Miles Wolf, Vanessa Wong

The Officers are:

- Mike Daly, President
- J. Miles Wolf, Vice President
- Roger Stevenson, Treasurer
- John Courtney, Secretary

Patricia Baxter outgoing President said at the February General Meeting, “As I pass on to Mike this symbol of NABA, I would like to take this opportunity to thank my officers for all their hard work:

- Yvette my VP and co-chair of Membership. VPs often are not really appreciated but they should be- she has also helped me in many ways. She is also famous for her super cook-out 2 years ago.
- Roger, our treasurer, currently in N. New York, who took on a daunting task and is handling it quite well. Transitions to new systems are never easy.
- John, our secretary, who had to learn this new skill on the go and also our Master Geek who will remain famous for building our new web site.
- I also want to thank Beth, whom I would nominate for "Most Reliable and Efficient Award" if we had such an award.
- And Mike Caporale for the extraordinary work he did on our by-laws. I hope that he will continue to forge ahead until the bylaws are adopted!
- Most importantly, I would like to thank Charlene who taught me everything, knew everything and every one I needed to meet, kept me organized and did so much for NABA in general, more often as a volunteer than as our paid coordinator.

I believe I leave NABA in a much better place than it was two years ago. We have a mural, and 3916 Reading is now clear. The flower beds & planters are lovely, new banners grace the business district, the NBD Grants have been funded in 2013 & 2014 and I submitted the phase 1 of the CNBDIP grant.

To sum up I say thank you to all of the trustees and all those who have supported me and NABA in the past 2 years and wish Mike all the best.”
