FROM THE CITY

● 2020 Neighborhood Summit Call for Speakers

- 2020 Neighborhood Summit Saturday March, 14, 2020; Xavier University, Cintas Center

My Neighborhood Counts. Everybody Counts

The theme for the 2020 Neighborhood Summit is “My Neighborhood Counts. Everybody Counts,” to recognize the 2020 Census year and expand upon the importance that all neighborhoods and all people’s voices count. The theme stresses the importance of not overlooking every voice, person, and place. We all count. To be counted is to matter, to have a voice, to be active, and to be engaged in ways that make a difference. There are many ways we engage in civic life that make our needs visible, our voices heard, and our community empowered.

Tracts for the 2020 Summit will include volunteering, civic engagement, equitable and inclusive opportunities, community initiatives and collective action.

Speaker proposals will be evaluated on how they address the theme and tracks. Please tell us how your session idea fits. We encourage multi-speaker sessions and/or panels with time for audience interaction or discussion. Let us know if this is a presentation, panel, or a workshop.

Fill out the form below.

The call for speakers will close Monday, Nov 11 2019

North Avondale Montessori (NAM) students rocketed into the spotlight when they sang at the Greater Cincinnati Business Hall of Fame Laureate Induction Ceremony.

The event, held in the Cintas Center at Xavier University, brought in more than 1,200 audience members and recognized several local business people for their professional success and roles in the Cincinnati community.

Students from North Avondale Montessori warm up before their performance of the Star-Spangled Banner.

The NAM choir kicked off the evening with a rendition of the Star-Spangled Banner, directed by Music Director Wesley Barnfield. Barnfield was "thrilled" by the opportunity and was in high spirits following the recital. "Our students did a fantastic job with the song. They worked hard on perfecting our National Anthem, and I am very pleased with their performance," he shared.

Choir members also escorted the five inductees onto the stage for their awards. One student described the moment as a "great honor," and said that she also "enjoyed singing in front of the group."

The decision to participate in the event was a no-brainer for Principal Roger Lewis, who said he "knew this would be a terrific experience."

Principal Lewis was proud and excited that his students could perform at such a prestigious event and be on the campus of Xavier University.

Principal Lewis also took the time to recognize the parents who drove their children to Xavier for their evening performance.

"Not only did Mr. Barnfield do a remarkable job teaching our students the Star-Spangled Banner, their voices were beautiful," he added.

Local farmer and New School Montessori parent, Carrie Driehaus, shared important learnings about the plight of bees and what we can do to help.

Preprimary students learned about how honey is made, the life cycle of a bee and the work of bees both in and outside of the hive. Students tasted honey, held a waxy honeycomb and observed bees at work inside Carrie's traveling Plexiglas-covered hive.

The elementary students focused on challenges facing bees and other pollinators in our modern world and what they can do to help.

- The effects of pesticides and unseasonable weather are interfering with important navigational and seasonal cues for honey bees.
- If flowering crops aren't pollinated, plants won't produce the resulting fruit, veggie or grain. This greatly affects us, as 85% of our food requires pollination. Even ice cream relies on pollinators since alfalfa is fed to dairy cattle.
- Scientists have discovered a 90% decline in Monarch butterflies over the last 20 years, and bumble bees and honey bees are also in serious trouble.

What can I do to help our pollinators?

We tend to think of honey bees as our primary crop pollinators, but bats, hummingbirds, butterflies, wasps, bumble bees, mason bees and moths are important pollinators as well. We can provide food and specialized shelter for these creatures to do our part to grow their numbers.

- During drought: Keep a shallow pan of water in your yard with small rocks to serve as landing islands for thirsty bees and other parched pollinators.
- Put up specialized animal houses: Bat, butterfly, ladybug and mason bee houses will make it easier for these pollinators to reproduce and can eliminate the need to use pesticides because they can keep pests under control naturally. (Hosting bats will also reduce your yard's mosquito and beetle population as each bat consumes half its body weight in insects each night.)
- Stop using pesticides, and delay mowing for a bit to let clover and dandelions bloom for a few days before removing their flowered tops.
- You might consider leaving a small area in the backyard un-raked or keep some leaves piled in your flowerbeds to serve as important habitat. Though monarch butterflies migrate to Mexico for the winter, the vast majority of butterflies, moths and native bees overwinter under a blanket of leaves.
- You can donate to organizations that support and protect pollinators. (monarchwatch.org and pollinator.org)

Carrie Driehaus is happy to have you contact her with questions or to request her as a speaker for your group. (carriedriehaus@gmail.com)
